HS330:
Security Risk Assessment and Management

Tel No:+97126654546 | Fax No:+97126654182 | Email: training@cmc-me.com | www.cmc-me.com

Training Description:

Why is security risk assessment important?

One of the first steps in ensuring overall security and preventing attacks is security risk assessment and management. Assessing risks allows individuals and organisations to identify the threat they are exposed to and also be able to evaluate the level of the associated risk. A proper security risk assessment allows the individual or organisation to prepare an effective plan or strategy for mitigating or managing the security risk.

How is this training going to help me?

There is less supply of this skill in the labour market, which brings about a lag in effective security management. This course introduces learners to a different level of security management. It gives real-life insight into how challenges, dangers and threats can be assessed to determine the next and most appropriate course of action. Participants of this course get to apply the knowledge gotten from this course in their day-to-day businesses.

This intensive training course empowers you with fully packed and all-encompassing security risk assessment and management modules. The course considers common case studies and exposes learners to scenario facilitation. As a result, they get to have hands-on experience managing some of the common security challenges they face in their organisation or institution.

Training Objectives:

By the end of the training, participants will be able to:

- ✓ Get introduced to the concept of effective security management of institutions and organisations.
- ✓ Gain knowledge about security risk assessment and different risk mitigation/management strategies
- ✓ Have a good understanding of how a risk management cycle operates
- ✓ Allow participants to calculate the level of risks and make tangible decisions based on the risk analysis
- ✓ Design a risk management method and implement a mitigation plan in a different scenario
- ✓ Understanding some of the risk factors involved in different situations
- ✓ Integration of effective security management in the structure of the organisation
- ✓ Improved logical reasoning and analytical skills for better assessment

Training Designed for:

This course is intended for Security personnel responsible for the protection of the organisation or institution from risk or security challenges, Compliance officers who help in ensuring the organisation stay on legal track using the risk assessment result, Mid-senior managers are part of the decision-makers and can recommend changes, Decision-makers and management who are responsible for the day-to-day management of assets and deployment of resources and Any other professionals interested in taking up the course for increased learning.
